

The Equity, Diversity and Inclusion (EDI) faculty grants aim to across UNSW.

are available for initiatives that improve opportunities, support, and outcomes socio-economically and educationally disadvantaged backgrounds, students with diverse gender identities, LGBTIQ+ students, students with disability and students from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds.

These grants will be funded by Access, Equity and Inclusion, and are available to combined teams of professional and academic staff from all UNSW Faculties.

The EDI faculty grants are designed to:

experience, engagement, and success.

support projects that will build student and staff capacity for promoting a respectful culture and practicing inclusivity in their work, study, and interactions support existing programs/units of study as well as new projects/activities with potential for expansion and implementation across schools or faculties.

Note: given the timeframe of the funding cycle (one year), human ethics applications must already be approved before the grant is accepted for research support to be granted. Delays relating to human ethics applications approval will not be permittermitte $\operatorname{Im}(\mathfrak{g}(\mathfrak{g}))(\mathfrak{g})($ criteria:

 The extent to which the project enhances opportunities for students from economically and educationally disadvantaged backgrounds, students with diverse gender identities, LGBTIQ+ students, students with disability and students from culturally and linguistically diverse backgrounds.

2.

- b. Costing value for expenditure
- c. Risk assessment

Tuesday 14 November 2023 Friday 9 February 2024

Friday 1 March 2024

Monday 4 Friday 8 March 2024

Monday 1 July 2024

Monday 8 July 2024 Monday 2 December 2024

